application as follows:

IN THE CLAIMS:

Please enter the following amended claims:

1. (Amended) A system for generating an active voice page that provides interactive and real-time voice services to at least one user, the active voice page comprising at least one markup language document, the system comprising:

a subscription interface that enables the at least one user to subscribe to at least one service that can output personalized content;

an input module that receives data reports and a structure for the voice service;

a markup language converting module that converts the data reports and the structure into
